

Carroll County Health Department

Naloxone Training 410-876-4800

Carroll County Health Department Alert: Drug Overdoses

Westminster, MD (June 8, 2017) The Carroll County Health Department is alerting the community that there has been an increase in opioid overdoses this week in Maryland and in other parts of the country.

- This could be due to a number of causes, but such spikes are often related to heroin laced with fentanyl or carfentanil. Counterfeit pain and anxiety pills may also be laced with fentanyl. The pills are disguised to look like frequently-prescribed and commonly-abused medications such as Percocet, oxycodone, Xanax and others.
- Fentanyl and carfentanil are synthetic opioids and even a very small amount can be deadly.
- First responders should use caution and utilize appropriate personal protective equipment when handling carfentanil because the drug can be absorbed through the skin. As a result, carfentanil could pose a grave danger to law enforcement and other first responders encountering the drug in an emergency medical situation.
- Signs and symptoms of exposure to carfentanil are consistent with opioid toxicity and include:
 - Pinpoint pupils
 - Respiratory depression (shallow or absent breathing)
 - Depressed mental status (dizziness, lethargy, sedation or loss of consciousness)
 - Gastrointestinal irritation (nausea, vomiting)
 - Cardiovascular failure (weak or absent pulse and cold, clammy skin)
- More than two doses of naloxone may be needed to revive someone who overdoses while using these drugs.
- Please advise your staff, clients, and program participants to be on high alert
- A Briefing Guide for First Responders issued by the DEA can be found at www.dea.gov

Signs of an Opioid OVERDOSE:

- Person is not responsive
- Breathing is slow, shallow or stops
- Gurgling or snoring noises
- Fingertips or lips turn blue or grey

Remember the Good Samaritan Law – Save a Life!

- If you provide help or assist a person experiencing a medical emergency due to alcohol or drugs, you are criminally IMMUNE from being charged, arrested and prosecuted for certain crimes. (Ann. Code Md. CR §1-210)
- The police and the courts believe that saving a life is more important than a charge or an arrest.

Opioid Overdose Rescue-Naloxone Training

If you are concerned that you or a loved one is at risk for overdosing on heroin and prescription pain medication, this training is for you. Naloxone is a prescription medication that reverses an opioid overdose.

Classes are FREE, Call 410-876-4800 to register

Class is held 3rd Wednesday of each month at 5:30-7:30 pm

Access Carroll, 10 Distillery Drive, Suite 200, Westminster, MD 21157

Where to go for treatment:

Call the Carroll County Health Department, Bureau of Prevention, Wellness and Recovery 410-876-4449 and speak with a Service Coordinator for available resources.